

NIGHT OF IDEAS

FACING
OUR TIME
31 JANUARY 2019

INSTITUT
FRANÇAIS
ROYAUME-UNI

Launched by the Institut français in 2016, the Night of Ideas is an initiative staged simultaneously in Paris, London and worldwide.

Crossing French, British and European perspectives with leading experts, artists and researchers, this year's London edition of the Night of Ideas addresses two of our society's most pressing issues: Europe and the environment, engaging audiences in open debates on the possibilities for a brighter future where citizen voices and perspectives matter.

Programme

Opening Event: Facing Our Time

17:00-18:00 – Ciné Lumière – Conversations

- Welcome Remarks by Jean-Pierre Jouyet, French Ambassador
- What Do We Mean by European Culture and Values? By Anthony Grayling
- Imagining and Inhabiting the Earth by Nicolas Hulot

The Night of Ideas focuses on Europe and the environment, two issues central to our societies today. Launching the Night's discussions are interviews with philosopher and public intellectual Anthony Grayling on What Do We Mean by European Culture and Values? and former French Minister for the Environment Nicolas Hulot on Imagining and Inhabiting the Earth.

Professor Anthony Grayling, Philosopher and Master of New College of the Humanities, interviewed by Agnès Poirier, Journalist, Writer and Broadcaster

Nicolas Hulot, Former French Minister for the Environment, Founder and President, Fondation pour la Nature et l'Homme, interviewed by Patricia Jolly, Senior Reporter, Le Monde

EUROPE BEYOND WALLS

Remembering a Europe of Walls and Iron Curtains

18:00-18:40 – Ciné Lumière – Debate

The dismantling of the Berlin Wall remains one of the most potent political images of the 20th Century. Yet we may be too easily forgetting the history of Cold War division, and what it can teach us about European identity, the dangers of being divided, and the long struggle it took to unite the continent.

With

- Anna Kaminsky, Director of the Federal Foundation for the Study of Communist Dictatorship
- Thomas Serrier, Professor of Contemporary German History, University of Lille and fellow 2018-2019 at Nantes Institute for Advanced Study; Coordinator of Europa. Notre histoire

Chaired by Anna Reading, Director of the Arts and Humanities Research Institute, Professor of Culture and Creative Industries, King's College London

With live drawing by Chris Riddell, Illustrator and political Cartoonist for The Observer

Experiencing Europe: The New Generation

18:50-19:30 – Ciné Lumière – Debate

While older generations turn away from Europe, many youth organisations today promote the idea of a shared European identity, highlighting the everyday experiences of those who consider themselves to be 'European'. How does Europe inspire this new generation?

With

- Mathilde Hériaud, Founder and President, Toi d'Europe
- Cédric Klapisch, Film Director (L'Auberge espagnole)
- Alexander Vassilev, Deputy Head of European and Asian Chapters, European Horizons

Chaired by Marie Le Conte, Journalist

Experiencing Europe: Borderless Identities

18:50-19:30 – La Médiathèque – Conversations

Those who define themselves as European often feel they belong to multiple cultures and multiple identities, and it can seem impossible to find a way for these to coexist. How do these citizens find a way to unite their different identities at a time when the continent seems more intent on restricting borders and boundaries? How can we redefine a more open European identity?

- Conversation with Theodore Zeldin, Writer, Historian and Philosopher
- Conversation with Mame-Fatou Niang, Associate Professor of French and Francophone Studies, Carnegie Mellon University, Co-Director of Mariannes Noires

Chaired by Hélène Neveu Kringelbach, Associate Professor in African Studies, UCL

Experiencing Europe: Borderless Artists

18:50-19:30 – Les Salons – Conversation

Awarded the Louise Weiss Prize for European Journalism, Elisa Perrigueur draws what she sees while reporting on migration throughout Europe, from Lesbos to Calais: sea borders, areas of no rights, anonymous people who don't want to be identified. Elisa will present a selection of her paintings from the exhibition Migrations, les escales du vide, bringing light to the complexity of migration and exile.

With

- Elisa Perrigueur, Artist and Journalist

Interviewed by Antoine Ginjaux, London Correspondent of Radio France, Grand Reporter for France Inter

Debating Europe: The State of our Politics

19:40-20:30 – Ciné Lumière – Conversation & Debate

Europe is at the heart of many national political agendas today. How has the European question shaped, and been shaped by, political parties in the UK and France, and elsewhere in Europe? And what can we expect for the future of "European" politics?

- Conversation with Tom Tugendhat, Member of Parliament and Chairman of the Foreign Affairs Select Committee
- Debate
  - With
  - Philippe Marlière, Professor of French and European Politics, UCL
  - Sophie Pedder, Paris Bureau Chief, The Economist
  - Marc Roche, Journalist, Author of Le Brexit va réussir

Chaired by Agnès Alexandre-Collier, CNRS Visiting Researcher at the Maison Française d'Oxford

With live drawing by Chris Riddell, Illustrator and political Cartoonist for The Observer

Debating Europe: Meaningful Citizen Participation

19:40-20:30 – La Médiathèque – Debate

European politics is often perceived as distant and abstract, yet many citizens are actively engaged in grassroots initiatives. How can harnessing the people's democratic power effectively bring about change within the EU?

With

- Alberto Alemanno, Professor in EU Law, HEC Paris
- Mary Fitzgerald, Editor-in-Chief, openDemocracy
- Nicolas Hatton, Founder, the3million

Chaired by Sharon Leclercq-Spooner, Senior Adviser, EPPA; Board Member Fondation EURACTIV

Experiencing Europe: Sounds Crossing Borders

19:40-20:30 – Les Salons – Talk & Performance

Through language and music, sound is at the heart of Europe's diverse identity, in which socio-economic exchanges have constantly fostered new forms of expression. Comparing the influence of immigration on popular music in Paris and London is one way of seeing this; deepening the notion of linguistic exchange through sound poetry is another one.

With

- Caroline Bergvall, Writer and Sound Artist; Visiting Professor at King's College London; first recipient of the Bernard Heidsieck-Centre Pompidou Literary Prize
- Martin Evans, Professor of European History, University of Sussex; Co-curator of the forthcoming exhibition Paris-London Music Migrations in Paris

Chaired by Eric de Visscher, Visiting Professor at the V&A Research Institute

Concert with Dame Civile

20:40-21:20 – La Médiathèque – Concert

A fast-rising duo of brothers from Noisy-Le-Sec in the eastern suburbs of Paris, Killian and Marvin's uncategorisable, defiantly modern soundscapes encompass influences from hip-hop to classic chanson, via the electronic experimentation and twisted pop hooks of James Blake and Björk.

THE EARTH HERE AND NOW

Inhabiting the Earth: Conversations to Inspire and Provoke

20:40-21:30 – Ciné Lumière – Debate

Activists, scientists and academics: how and why do they use their influence and expertise to raise awareness on the environmental crisis? How can we all engage in environmentally conscious behaviour and contribute towards changing our future?

With

- Nicolas Hulot, Former French Minister for Environment, Founder and President, Fondation pour la Nature et l'Homme
- Joanna Haigh, Professor of Atmospheric Physics, Co-Director of the Grantham Institute, Imperial College London
- Tim Jackson, Professor of Sustainable Development, University of Surrey, Director of CUSP, Author of Prosperity Without Growth

Chaired by Pilita Clark, Associate Editor and Columnist, Financial Times

Inhabiting the Earth: The New Generation

21:40-22:30 – Ciné Lumière – Debate

How can we imagine a better tomorrow for our planet, and for the generations who will inhabit it? Documentary filmmakers and youth organizations discuss how we can raise awareness on environmental issues.

With

- Cyril Dion, Environmental Activist; Filmmaker (Tomorrow, After Tomorrow)
- Dominik Bari, Filmmaker (Oymyakon: The Story of the Coldest Inhabited Place)
- Alice Guillaume, Previous Campaigns Officer, Cambridge Zero Carbon Society

Chaired by Daisy Kendrick, Founder, Ocean Generation

With live drawing by Chris Riddell, Illustrator and political Cartoonist for The Observer

Imagining the Earth: Arts and Sciences

21:40-22:30 – Les Salons – Exhibition & Talk

Áinne Burke is the current artist in residence at the Grantham Institute, Imperial College London. Through a series of paintings and installations, she will explore the human relationship to natural elements.

Imagining the Earth: Turning the Tide

21:40-22:30 – La Médiathèque – Debate

The ocean is the heart of the planet: it's a vital source of food and oxygen, as well as climate regulator. Keeping our oceans healthy is crucial in helping us to avoid the worst of climate change damage. Each year, however, millions of pounds of plastic are dumped into the ocean, which, once broken down can cause drastic changes to the environment. What solutions exist to prevent plastics from being thrown away? How can we turn the recycling crisis into an opportunity?

With

- Maria Luiza Pedrotti, Marine Biologist; Researcher, CNRS
- Emily Penn, Oceans Advocate; Skipper and Artist
- Romain Pilliard, Sailor; Founder, Use It Again
- Romain Troublé, Executive Director, Tara Expeditions Foundation

Chaired by Patricia Jolly, Senior Reporter, Le Monde

Closing Concert – Singing the Earth: Jimmy Aldridge & Sid Goldsmith

22:30-23:00 – La Médiathèque – Concert

The highly acclaimed folk duo released their new album Many A Thousand in September 2018 explicitly engaged with environmental concerns. According to The Observer “making common cause between antique songs and present circumstances is one of the grails of modern folk, one this young duo pull off impressively”.

The Earth in Virtual Reality

Throughout the night, experiment with Virtual Reality and discover how this new technology may help people gain a deeper appreciation of environmental challenges.

BEFORE THE NIGHT

In the run-up to the Night of Ideas and echoing its main strands Europe Beyond Walls, The Earth Here and Now, this programme explores citizenship and European identity, as well as the urgency of taking action to preserve this space we share as citizens of the world, the planet Earth.

22 – 30 January – Films and talks programme at the Institut français in London

THE LITTLE NIGHT

The Little Night offers our youngest the opportunity to develop their imagination, sharpen their creativity and express themselves through a series of interactive multimedia events. Students from British and French secondary schools will also reflect on the main topics. They will participate in the debate by working on European and environmental citizenship, sending special ambassadors to the Night's panels, and producing videos on these themes.
