Programme

WELCOME REMARKS: REBUILDING TOGETHER

18:00-18:50 – Ciné Lumière – Opening – Onsite & Online

- Catherine Colonna, Ambassador of France to the UK, will launch the Night of Ideas 2022. This new edition will focus on “Rebuilding Together”. (onsite)
- Opening address by Philippe Descola, Anthropologist and Professor at the Collège de France, author of Beyond Nature and Culture. (online)
- Opening address, by artist Zineb Sedira, who represents France at the 59th Venice Biennale. (onsite)

> Onsite at the Institut français

> Livestream on Facebook (@InstitutFrancaisLondon) and YouTube (FrenchInstituteUK)

COMMON GOOD FOR COMMON GROUND

19:00-19:50 – Ciné Lumière – Debate – Onsite & Online

Common good is what cements society and binds people as a civic collective. But after decades of increasing individualism and a palpable decrease in a defined national identity, shouldn't we now care more about a global common good? Isn't the G20's landmark decision of making multinational companies pay their fair share of tax around the world a step in that direction?

Hybrid event with

- Mariana Mazzucato, Economist, University College London (onsite)
- Philippe Aghion, Economist, Collège de France, INSEAD, and London School of Economics (online)

Chaired by Julian Limberg, Lecturer in Public Policy, King's College London (onsite)

> Onsite at the Institut français

> Livestream on Facebook (@InstitutFrancaisLondon) and YouTube (FrenchInstituteUK)

THE POLITICS OF EXPERTISE

19:00-19:50 – La Médiathèque – Debate – Onsite

Considering the difficult, if not impossible, task of finding political solutions to the health crisis, scientists were often praised as those who should act as real decision-makers. However, contradictory stances may emerge depending on which science is prioritised. And isn't political decision-making precisely what exceeds the sheer sum of all varied expertise?

Hybrid event with

- Bashir Al-Hashimi, Professor in Computer Engineering, King's College London (onsite)
- Marcus du Sautoy, Mathematician, University of Oxford (onsite)
- Renate Christ, Climate Change Expert (online)

Chaired by Judith Rainhorn, Professor in Modern History, Université Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne (onsite)

> Onsite at the Institut français

A GUIDE TO LIVING IN AN APOCALYPSE

20:10-21:00 – La Médiathèque – Debate – Onsite

There is no way back in history, no point in trying to return to some kind of normal situation. If, as Rosa Luxembourg put it a century ago, economic catastrophe is the intrinsic, normal mode of existence for capital, shouldn't we rethink the very concept of a crisis? To put it less dramatically and in Bruno Latour's words, the metaphysics of confinement and deconfinement could well be the opportunity for a metamorphosis.

Hybrid event with

- Merve Emre, Professor in English, University of Oxford (onsite)
- Jack Stilgoe, Professor in Science and Technology Studies, University College London (onsite)
- Olivier Remaud, Philosopher and Professor at the École des Hautes Études en Sciences Sociales (online)
- Daniel Innerarity, Professor in Political Philosophy, University of Saragossa (online)

Chaired by Uta Staiger, Professor in European Studies, University College London (onsite)

> Onsite at the Institut français

MAKING THE MOST OF MAKING

19:00-19:50 – Les Salons – Debate – Onsite

The recent crises have made way for unbridled creativity and inventiveness. Artists, craftspeople and architects are designing new ways of experiencing the world. To what extent will they shape our post-Covid future?

Hybrid event with

- Emmanuel Tibloux, Director of the École nationale supérieure des Arts Décoratifs (online)
- Zoe Laughlin, Director of the Institute of Making, University College London (onsite)
- Jasmina Cibic, Artist (onsite)
- Douglas McMaster, Chef (onsite)

Chaired by Caroline Till, Designer (onsite)

> Onsite at the Institut français

WHAT'S ESSENTIAL? TALES FROM LOCKDOWN

20:10-21:00 – Ciné Lumière – Debate – Onsite & Online

The pandemic has made us reflect on what is crucial to our well-being, reshuffling the social order. How do we define what is necessary and what is optional? Who should decide about it? Putting this reflection on the political agenda seems unprecedented in the history of mankind. Now it's time for essential thinking about what's essential.

Hybrid event with

- Elif Shafak, Writer (onsite)
- Tim Waterman, Associate Professor in Landscape Theory, University College London (onsite)
- Timothée Parrique, Degrowth Activist (online)

Chaired by Agnès Poirier, Journalist (onsite)

> Onsite at the Institut français

> Livestream on Facebook (@InstitutFrancaisLondon) and YouTube (FrenchInstituteUK)

NOIRE

20:10-21:00 – Les Salons – Film – Onsite

Tania de Montaigne's filmed performance Noire. La Vie méconnue de Claudette Colvin, a theatrical adaptation of the biography she has written about the American pioneer of the 1950s civil rights movement, will be shown before her participation in the conversation The Problem with Universalism.

> Onsite at the Institut français

THE PROBLEM WITH UNIVERSALISM

21:20-22:10 – La Médiathèque – Debate – Onsite

Once praised as a pathway to liberation, universalism is now criticized by new inclusive movements that don't believe in its emancipatory effect anymore. Is universalism definitely over?

Hybrid event with

- Norman Ajari, Lecturer in Francophone Black Studies, University of Edinburgh (onsite)
- Shuk Ying Chan, Research Fellow in Politics, Nuffield College, Oxford University (onsite)
- Tania de Montaigne, Novelist and Journalist (online)

Chaired by Sameer Rahim, Managing Editor (Arts and Books) of Prospect (onsite)

> Onsite at the Institut français

LES IMPATIENTS

21:20-22:10 – Les Salons – Film – Onsite

In Les Impatients, a film-essay in the form of a “chronopolitical” series, art theorists Aliocha Imhoff and Kantuta Quirós – founders of the contemporary art curatorial platform A People is Missing – unravel those who are engaged in a movement of reconstruction of the future, of futures, those who carry within them an impatience with regard to a History that now seems motionless, stopped.

> Onsite at the Institut français

A PLANET OF EVERYONE'S OWN

21:20-22:10 – Ciné Lumière – Debate – Onsite & Online

During this last decade, the refugee crisis, the dramatic acceleration of climate change and the pandemic has made us question the limits to citizenship and international mobility. On the one hand, emergencies of all sorts have made state borders suddenly look old-fashioned, while on the other hand, frontiers have been elevated to a level of importance and scrutiny absent in Europe since the Second World War.

Hybrid event with

- Zineb Sedira, Artist (onsite)
- Elena Fiddian-Qasmiyah, Professor in Migration and Refugee Studies, University College London (onsite)
- Véronique Tadjo, Writer (onsite)
- Leoluca Orlando, Mayor of Palermo (online)

Chaired by Anne-Sylvaine Chassany, Journalist (onsite)

> Onsite at the Institut français

> Livestream on Facebook (@InstitutFrancaisLondon) and YouTube (FrenchInstituteUK)

THE STATE IN ALL ITS STATES

22:30-23:20 – Ciné Lumière – Debate – Onsite & Online

Whether weakened by the power of big cities, undermined by mistrust towards political elites, or its national sovereignty infringed upon by supranational entities, the State, in the European sense of the term, has undergone a severe crisis during the last decades. However, the emerging need to strengthen Health and Education sectors, to name but two, has redefined the role of the State once more.

Hybrid event with

- Bobby Duffy, Professor of Public Policy, King's College London (onsite)
- Alain Supiot, Professor Emeritus in Law, Collège de France (online)

Chaired by Alan Rusbridger, Editor in Chief of Prospect (onsite)

> Onsite at the Institut français

> Livestream on Facebook (@InstitutFrancaisLondon) and YouTube (FrenchInstituteUK)

SIDE EVENTS

VIDEO GAMES

18:00-23:00 – L'Atelier – Video Games – Onsite

During the Night, the participants will be invited to play two different 2D video games. In Diluvian Winds, the rising waters are pushing large populations into exile. A lighthouse keeper witnesses this mass exodus and has to decide how to manage his environment, cooperating with the refugees in order to survive the consequences of global warming. In Citizens, the player gets to create a constitution for their own imaginary country. Game on!

> Onsite at the Institut français

SPOKEN WORDS

20:00-20:30 – Café Tangerine – Workshop – Onsite

Inspired by the debates of the Night, Spoken Word poet Anthony Anaxagorou will deliver tailor-made poems. As you will go from panel to panel, he will declaim his pieces in the main foyer, creating an immersive experience and giving an artistic approach on the topics discussed during the Night.

> Onsite at the Institut français

ZERO-WASTE COOKING CLASS

20:00-20:30 – Café Tangerine – Workshop – Onsite

Climate-forward chef Douglas McMaster comes to the Institut for a unique cooking workshop! The world's first zero-waste restaurant he opened in London, Silo, serves food that would otherwise be going to waste, up-cycles all its furniture and fittings and makes its own compost. So roll up your sleeves and come learn sustainable cooking with the expert in the field: dumpster-dive in!

> Onsite at the Institut français

INTERVIEWS WITH KCL & UCL PROFESSORS AND PHD STUDENTS

20:00-22:00 – Ciné Lumière 2 – Q&A – Onsite

In each of these three 30-minute Q&A sessions, a PhD student from King's College London and University College London will interview their professor on some of the topics discussed during the Night, enabling them to further develop their arguments.

20:00-20:30 – Zoe Laughlin (UCL) interviewed by Emma Olivia Wagstaff (Royal Central School for Speech and Drama)

20:45-21:15 – Bashir Al-Hashimi (KCL) interviewed by Laila Faridooon (KCL)

21:30-22:00 – Merve Emre (Oxford) interviewed by Sarah Edwards (UCL)

> Onsite at the Institut français

CLOSING CONCERT

23:30-00:00 – La Médiathèque – Concert – Onsite

Arthur Sajas, Marie Merlet, Catherine Lucas and Cédric Monzali will premiere a graphic partition by Arthur Sajas. These four improvisers are members from the HAHA Sounds Collective, a 15-piece choir and accompanying instrumental ensemble with roots in jazz, soundtrack and avant-garde music. This experimental choral project brings together London-based musicians and arrangers from diverse backgrounds.

> Onsite at the Institut français

BEFORE THE NIGHT

In the run-up to the Night of Ideas, a selection of thought-provoking films and discussions will be exploring several themes of this year's edition. Don't miss the special screenings of Secrets and Lies followed by a Q&A with director Mike Leigh, and Memory Box presented by Joana Hadjithomas and Khalil Joreige, winners of the Prix Marcel Duchamp 2017. Discover The Velvet Queen, a documentary following wildlife photographer Vincent Munier and writer and adventurer Sylvain Tesson on their quest to find the snow leopard. A programme on memory and identity curated by students of the NFTS, and the animation film Flee followed by a free drawing workshop are also on the menu.

21 – 26 January

www.nightofideas.co.uk/beforethenight

THE LITTLE NIGHT

Ahead of and during the Night of Ideas, we invite young ones to join creative workshops or produce drawings and audio clips designed to familiarise them with the theme Rebuilding Together. In Mapping Controversies, an innovative teaching method introduced by Bruno Latour, Lycée français Charles de Gaulle students will debate live on public statues dedicated to controversial colonial figures.

Wed 26 Jan, 17:00 – Debate: Mapping Controversies

Thu 27 Jan, 16:00 – Workshop: Woodland Community Project

ESCAPE THE ECHO CHAMBER WITH PROSPECT

Under editor Alan Rusbridger, Prospect magazine is a cradle of ideas, reflective writing and thoughtful debate. Prospect is an independent and authoritative monthly magazine that allows in-depth analysis and a contrarian view on current affairs, the economy, politics and culture to understand our changing world.

Every month, Prospect offers:

- The quiet, rational voice you need to make sense of a chaotic world
- Independent writing that challenges you but doesn't tell you how to vote
- Rare access to thinkers that seek to find common ground rather than cancel each other
- A place where discerning and engaged readers can have their say

“Prospect is a breath of fresh air. It is good to read a thoughtful magazine that wants to stimulate its readers and does not exist just to implement its own agenda” Malcolm Rifkind, Former Foreign Secretary
