

France Education international (FEi), the French Ministry of Education's agency and examination board for DELF-DALF qualifications, have informed us that between 9 January and 12 January their administrative examination management platform, GAEL, was the target of a cyberattack. FEi operated an emergency shutdown of the platform as soon as the breach was discovered as a safety measure. Only limited personal information and no passport numbers, medical data, or bank data are logged on the platform.

The platform's secure access has since been reinforced.

FEi have published an official communication on their website. Candidates wishing to have further information on the incident and FEi's safety policy may contact FEi's data protection officer.
